

ABSTRACT

- 5 An optical transmission apparatus including a port for connection to an optical fiber for releasing non-visible laser light for transmission through the optical fiber. The optical transmission apparatus includes a visible light generator optically connected to the port for releasing at 10 the port a visible light tracer for propagation in the optical fiber with the non-visible laser light.